

2013 年 3 月 11 日受付, 2013 年 3 月 25 日採録

Abstract

The methods of environmental impact assessment are represented in the case of renewable energy in the marine environment. Intended technology covers wind farm, wave, current, and temperature difference. The concept of impact assessment on the fishery environment is recommended as a useful guideline.